2. Danish economic interest

Export turnover is defined as the company's turnover related to sales of goods and services to a foreign market and turnover related to sales of goods and services to a Danish export company and as the company's turnover related to sales of goods and services to companies and persons staying in Denmark, but not permanently domiciled or resident in Denmark (tourists).

The company hereby declares that our buyer(s) will be invoiced from Denmark or from our foreign affiliated company/companies and that the size of the company's export turnover makes up a minimum of 20 percent of the company's total turnover as presented in the company's most recent financial statements.

If the company wishes to base the credit insurance policy on its expected export turnover, EKF must approve this in advance.

In case of doubts as to whether the above-mentioned conditions are fulfilled, EKF will decide whether the company's export turnover is adequate based on the information submitted by the credit insurer regarding the company (the applicant).

In accordance with the OECD Anti-Bribery Convention, EKF Denmark's Export Credit Agency ("EKF"), similar to other ECAs within the OECD, is obliged to obtain a declaration stating that bribery has not been and will not be taking place. In addition to this, the regulations in the Danish Criminal Code section 122 regarding bribery of public officials and section 299, subsection 2 on bribery of private individuals, are also applicable.

According to section 122 of the Danish Criminal Code, "Any person who unduly grants, promises or offers someone exercising a Danish, foreign or international public office or function a gift or other privilege in order to induce the person to do or fail to do anything in relation to his official duties shall be liable to a fine or imprisonment for a term up to six years".

Section 299, subsection 2 of the Danish Criminal Code regarding bribery of private individuals (kickbacks) stipulates that: "Anyone acting in the capacity of trustee of any property of another person, by neglect of duty, for the benefit of himself or of others, receives, claims or accepts the promise of a gift or other favour, as well as any person who grants, promises or offers such a gift or other favour shall be liable to a fine or imprisonment for a term up to four years".
